PROPERTY4EAST SECURES THE MOST EXCLUSIVE SUITES & APARTMENTS FOR THE LONDON 2012 OLYMPICS

In the past year, PROPERTY4EAST has really outshone itself. It has managed to secure a sizeable number of suites and apartments in the UK's capital for its clientele to ensure they enjoy the London 2012 Olympics to the fullest and in style. What's more, their visitors can be assured not only of tickets for the Games but also for the Opening Ceremony. The response has been so positive that we can only take reservations now through a personal introduction.

"We cannot comment on the exact number", says Alexandra Levkov, head of PROPERTY4EAST's press department. "We can however confirm that prices vary from £2,500 to £12,000 per day for some very choice locations, both in London and its suburbs. Due to the interest of home owners in The City to lease out their apartments, we can now also offer some very exclusive properties for the duration of the London 2012 Olympics. This has led to people paying unprecedented high prices."

The unexpected influx of requests for accommodation coupled with the difficulty we now face in acquiring suites and/or apartments has led to us looking at the possibility of chartering yachts that would lie at anchor in the Thames, giving easy access to the city and the Games. We are already talking to the local authorities about what is and is not possible.

There'll also be a special team on hand during the London 2012 Olympics to deal with every need of our clientele, whatever it might be. Our visitors come mainly from the moneyed classes, along with embassies and large corporations from Eastern Europe and the Middle East.

PROPERTY4EAST is a unique marketing services company created to offer the world's most beautiful and exclusive properties to wealthy investors in the Middle East, Russia, Latvia, Ukraine, Belorussia, Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan, Mongolia and the rest of Eastern Europe.

If you feel you have an attractive property in London or its suburbs and wish to make it available for the London 2012 Olympics, please contact PROPERTY4EAST via board@property4east.com.
